6 REASONS ...

Why You Should Plant Southern States
Open Formula Hybrid Corn

1. Larger Yields—More Money—Southern States Hybrids yield up to 25 more bushels per acre than open-pollinated seeds.
2. Less Seed Required—A bushel of Southern States Seed Corn will plant up to 3 more acres than a bushel of open-pollinated seed.
3. Easier Harvesting—Because of their "Stability," a result of large, vigorous root systems, and the uniform height at which the ears are borne on the stalks, Southern States Hybrids can be harvested more easily and quickly.
4. Uniform Stand—The Seed Corn is carefully graded as to size and shape and thoroughly tested for germination.
5. Tailored For Your Farm—There is a Southern States Hybrid adapted to the soil and weather conditions in your area.
6. Open Formula—There is no guesswork about Southern States Hybrid Corn. When you purchase a Hybrid, you know exactly the varieties which make it up.

40 YEARS AGO

Back from the third annual session of the Kentucky Swine Breeders Association, held in Lexington, January 22-23, Jefferson County farmers were discussing lessons learned. Those who had attended were telling of the many interesting things they had seen and heard.

They had met and listened to the famed Dr. William Delrich, of the Illinois Experiment Station, who had given more than seven years to the study of hog feeding. This great expert had found out how to "walk the hog"—exercise him—keep him in good health, putting him on a similar footing to "contented cows."

A visit to the new pigery at the Lexington station showed how five different lots were being fed on different rations. "Feeding for the Show Ring," the new treatment by the serum of Charles C. Wheeler, who had been elected president of the Duroc Breeders Association, was loud in his praise of the Lexington, for he was the interest taken in the (then) "new to Kentucky breed of hogs"—the Duroc and the Duroc-Jersey.

A full column on the Lexington meetings. The malmen of the R.F.D. routes were defended in the Jeffersonian by A.B.C., the correspondent of St. Matthews, who said more thoughtful and should be right postage on letters sent by the citizens served by the overworked postman to do praise was given the letter man for efficiency and courtesy, and "The Gullible Haul" was called for. Winter weather in St. Matthews had given away to mild and rainy weather, and one there to go either to South or North for physical comfort.

There were the usual gatherings at the Jeffersonian "Town Pump" a clearing center for community gossip. Miss Caruth, Nicholas, "it was reported," was "about to capture a young man from Lyndon, it was said, and a young girl who was jealous. The Middletown girls were also "fearful" of similar incidents. The Town Pump operator said, E. B. Berry, of Perry Creek, had announced as a Republican candidate for Magistrate from the Second District of Jefferson County. Mrs. Rosa A. Stonestreet wanted to be County Superintendent of Public Schools and had an announcement in the paper 40 years ago. Booth Tarkenton, "The Gentleman from Indiana," was still running in the Jeffersonian, the paper's first serial. Miss Mattie Brown, of Bunchel, daughter of Mr. Thomas Brown, and Genus Crenshaw, of near Mt. Washington, were married Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt in Louisville. The Rev. E. B. Thornberry performed the ceremony. They had gone to housekeeping in the "beautiful home" of the bridegroom.

There were still holes in the streets of Jeffersontown and St. Matthews was still hoping for improved highways and the proposed extension of the electric line—the interurban—to Shelbyville. Mrs. J. W. Glore, of Middletown, entertained at tea, Friday evening last, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Corbin and daughters, Miss Anna and Lizzie May Corbin. The Improvement League there was to have a meeting at the Middletown school, to which "all parents" were cordially invited. The old school had given the boys and girls of South Park a joyous skating season. Miss Harriet Rees, of Newburg, had as her guests this week the Misses Prosser and Sweet. (Any relation to the famed minstrel and sweet singer, Rees Prosser?) H. A. H. declares in a card to the Jeffersonian that education is "indeed, 'the handmaid of religion'" and he compliments the talk on the subject, made by Miss Fannie Cave Green. Hardin County had asked Jefferson County (its Fiscal Court) to set aside money to build a bridge over Salt River, and if faced with refusal, threatened mandamus proceedings. Refusal was being taken to rebuild the plant of the Louisville Fibrebrick Co., damaged by a $75,000 fire recently. Fred A. Lausman, fire recently, using "Open for Business" as advertisement, with a "new and up-to-date line of staple and fancy groceries," along with other items "carried in a first-class general store." Cakes, pies and rolled oats were 10 cents a package. He also offered a full line of stationery, cards, etc. The business of The Jeffersonian had grown to such an extent, said an editorial, that the paper was "compelled to employ additional help," and C. E. Alcock, brother of the editor, and formerly with the Spencer Courier and The

has become the manager of the paper. Hugh Lee Smith, who had received early instruction under the editor of The Jeffersonian, had purchased The Springfield Sun from J. Rogers Goss and would now sell the journalistic sense alone. W. T. Kemp, of Harrods Creek had returned home after having surveyed along the Eastern Kentucky Railway. Miss Cora Wilson Stewart lectured at the Prospect Christian Church this week on the "Moral School" (Miss Stewart will be remembered as the founder of the so-called "Moonlight Schools" of Eastern Kentucky). Mrs. Catherine Pound celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday at Seatonville, Wednesday, January 27, 1909, with "only relatives present."

The weather man forecast "fair" for the coming week, beginning Monday. The Ohio River would be "very wet" by a p.m. and "remain so all week." A cold wave will "strike offcences, Tuesday," the paper, The Focus, said. James V. Harbison sold this week to Hart Wallace, noted breeder of Jersey cattle, his farm of 280 acres, three miles west of Shelbyville, for $95 an acre. Frank Marmann brought into Shepherdsville a fine city caught in a steel trap, two miles below town, on a bank of Salt River. The animal weighed 20 pounds and measured 44 inches from tip to tip. Its pelt, "a beauty" was estimated to be worth from $1 to $4.

was to be presented, accompanied by Mrs. M. H. H. H. H. H.

Robert Church, Mr. and Mrs. David Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Standford, Mrs. J. H. Shively, Mrs. C. E. Bos and Mrs. Emma C. Woffin. This was the birthday of Mrs. Shively and the centerpiece on the dining table was a large wrie cake with pink candles, lighted and cut by the honoree, while the rest of the party enjoyed the refreshments. A meeting to organize a Missionary Society will be held at Fairview Church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. This church is getting along nicely, since its reopening several months ago and having splendid attendance.

News Mrs. Fielden

Services were well attended at Newburg Christian Church Sunday morning and evening. Bro. Spangler bringing inspirational messages at both meetings. Eighty-one guests at Sunday school, more coming in for church services and 42 in the evening. The choir gave a beautiful special under the direction of Bro. Rickerton, the leader. A banquet will be given Friday night to the members of the choir, sponsored by the minister and the superintendent and his wife. Turkey and all its trimmings will be a feature.

Mrs. Alice Dean and sons, Lawrence and Gregory Dean, are moving this week to New York City; also the Roark family are leaving. We will miss them in our church.

Mr. and Mrs. Fielden

Fredrick had as dinner guests, Sunday.

day after church: Mr. and Mrs.

David Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh

Standford, Mrs. J. H. Shively, Mrs. C. E. Bos and Mrs. Emma C. Woffin. This was the birthday of Mrs. Shively and the centerpiece on the dining table was a large wrie cake with pink candles, lighted and cut by the honoree, while the rest of the party enjoyed the refreshments. A meeting to organize a Missionary Society will be held at Fairview Church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. This church is getting along nicely, since its reopening several months ago and having splendid attendance.

Mrs. Gertrude Tinsley, widow of the Rev. T. S. Tinsley, died

last week at her home in Anchorage. She was well known here, her husband having worked in this community in a religious capacity. Surviving her are two daughters and several grandchildren. A son, Timothy Tinsley, lives in New York, while engaged in church work there.

Mrs. Teraton Thompson

entertained at her new home on

Hunsinger Lane, Wednesday afternoon, with a Stanley party.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Thompson, Mrs. Hattie

Leotis Stivers, Mrs. Jane Waters,

Mrs. Ellis Thompson, Mrs. Charles Patterson and Mrs. Hattie

Frederick. Delicious refreshments of homemade ice cream and angel food cake were served.

A delightful time was spent by all.

By Mrs. B. Casey

Sympathy is extended to the Adam Shake family in the loss of their devoted wife and mother.

There has been a lot of sick folk around here. Mrs. Hattie Scott had double pneumonia and recovered but now she is awful weak with her head aching.

Mrs. Thomas Baird was on the sick list last week. She has turned to work this week.

The little girl of Mr. and Mrs. Nig Harris had to have a penicillin shot last week. Mrs. Heller had to have the doctor in to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Swan are the proud parents of a baby girl.

The sudden change in weather knocked the attendance down in Sunday School at Jeffersontown's First Baptist Church Sunday, Feb. 19, 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders and family, from Shepherdsville, were all-day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sanders, Sunday; also called on Mr. and Mrs. Russell Douglas and baby in the afternoon.

The writer and Mrs. Lillie M. Curry attended two Stanley parties last week at the homes of Mrs. Russell Douglas and Mrs. Irma Brannan.

Mr. Frank Bradbury's condition seems to be about the same.

Shepherdsville Rd.

By Mary Owen Fisher

Rev. M. B. May filled his appointment at Bethel Methodist Church last Sunday morning and will preach there next Sunday morning also.

Mrs. John Lloyd was a visitor Tuesday of Mrs. Harriet Proctor.

Mrs. John Peacock has returned from Louisville where she visited her children, Mrs. Fannie Motherhead, Mrs. Vernon Owen and Wayne Peacock.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hatfield, of Fairdale, were guests in the home of their brother, J. W. Hatfield and family, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fisher were luncheon guests of Uncle Dick Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Auburn Cox, and Mrs. Maud Cox.

Mr. Burr Gentry and R. M. Owen are not improving as fast as their friends would like. Miss Minnie Owen is much better, is up most of the time now.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Owen and Eddie Owen of Geneva, Ky., were dinner guests Monday of his aunt, Mrs. Albert Fisher and Mr. Fisher.

Rev. C. H. Skelton came home Thursday from is itineracy in Indiana, and left Friday afternoon for Glasgow to assist Rev. G. P. Robertson, pastor of the Methodist Church there in a few days.

Albert Johnson, of Louisville, is doing the plumbing for the Pleasant Grove Baptist Parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hatfield, Skippy Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. L. Fisher were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Padgett.

Mr. G. A. Brannan and son have gone to Florida on a sight-seeing trip.

Charles Stallings is spending awhile with his daughter, Mrs. Harriet Proctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Lloyd have moved in the residence with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester

Cox, who are now in the Cox's Creek

section last week.

Curt Hagan is building some cabinets for Mrs. Hagan in their attractive home.

Mrs. J. W. Hatfield spent Friday in Louisville with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gott-home after a stay of several weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. John Bollin, who is ill.
